

Dr. Abdelmajid Tribak, Division of Sustainable Environment and Natural Resources at Science and Technology Directorate, ISESCO.

Between 1993-95 he received under the auspices of the World Health Organization a Master in Advanced Studies in Human Ecology at the Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy of Brussels with an equivalent of the International Certificate in Human Ecology of the CIEH of Geneva.

Between 1998-2005 he worked at the Directorate of Education, Research and Development at the Ministry of Agriculture of Morocco, while being a scientific member of the General Council for Agricultural Development (CGDA).

Between 2005-2009 he worked as Program Director of the Mohamed VI chain of the Holy Quran, Assadissa when he received from His Majesty the Mohamed VI Prize of Thought Islamic for his book on "Islam and the Environment" in 2007, selected from 31 candidates from 10 Muslim countries.

After the experience of a year of technical adviser in the cabinet of the Minister of Higher Education and Research he joined since the beginning of 2013 the position of environmental expert at the ISESCO Science Directorate.