OUR COMMON HOME

a guide to caring for our living planet

The basics of science and faith motivating our urgent ecological action

This reader-friendly condensed guide is a joint creation of the Stockholm Environment Institute and the Holy See. In 20 illustrated pages, readers learn the basics about the science of climate change, biodiversity and responsible resource use and how they are connected with Pope Francis's 2015 encyclical letter Laudato Si': On Care for Our Common Home.

The booklet distils the science on urgent environmental issues and explains how individuals and communities can take action to build a more sustainable and socially just future.

LAUDATO SI' ACTION PLATFORM

an online tool, resource and community

Ecological conversion for people and planet

The Laudato Si' Action Platform is an online initiative of the Vatican Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development aimed at inviting Catholics and beyond on a journey of ecological conversion toward integral ecology. Participants belong to various sectors, from families and individuals, to parishes and dioceses, religious communities, healthcare and educational institutions, economics, and organizations and groups.

The platform offers templates, guides, action ideas, and webinars that connect a global community. With this support, participants reflect on and assess their lifestyles, make their Laudato Si' Plan with specific actions aimed at multiple Laudato Si' Goals, and carry out those plans.
