

The Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development in collaboration with the Swedish Embassy to the Holy See is pleased to invite you to the Round Table on the occasion of Laudato Si' Week

"Hope for the Earth. Hope for humanity"

Faith and Science: a necessary dialogue to care for our living planet

In the Encyclical Laudato Si', Pope Francis calls for alliances to cultivate generative dialogues. He reminds us that we cannot make theology without having a dialogue with science.

The Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development and Stockholm Environment Institute (SEI), supported by the Swedish government, present "Our Common Home: A guide to caring for our living planet", an illustrated booklet that connects climate change, biodiversity and sustainable resource.

Among the participants:

- H. E. Cardinal Michael Czerny SJ, prefect of the Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development
- Ulf R. Hansson, Director Swedish Institute of Classical Studies in Rome,
- H.E. Andrés Jato, Swedish Ambassador to the Holy See
- Måns Nilsson, Executive Director SEI
- Tomás Insua, President Laudato Si' Movement

And some change makers.
